

Application to become a Mentor

My Open University is a global, experienced based, mentoring network. We match Career Mentors with individuals to provide independent individual executive career coaching. We have mentor jobs available now.

We are looking for successful career focused managers and executives who want to mentor in their spare time and supplement their income. Experienced Career Mentors in our network are matched with clients seeking experience based executive coaching.

Our career mentors organize time to meet the client either face to face, on a conference call, or through email - and provide experienced based executive coaching to accelerate the achievement of their career objectives. All you need is your experience, some spare time, and a passion for giving back to the society.
